Several of the video clips, included with permission, were the output of a project called “In the Moment: Stories of Mindfulness in Nursing,” also funded through the RWJF Executive Nurse Fellowship Program, 2014 Cohort.

- Co-creators included: Debbie Arnow, DNP, RN; Amy Cotton, DNP, RN; Jeff Doucette, DNP, RN; Kate FitzPatrick, DNP, RN; and Teri Pipe, PhD, RN

- Video participants included: Allie Oaks, BSN, RN; Kelly Cueman Sargent, BSN, RN, OCN; Megan Gombold, BSN, RN; and Sandra McNulty, RN

The course authors gratefully acknowledge RWJF and these contributors, as well as in-kind support provided by the University of Vermont Medical Center, Burlington, Vermont.

Lastly, they would like to thank the Victoria Buffum Endowment Fund for a grant that supported additional video footage found in this course, including interviews with Scott D. Perrapato, DO, FACOS; Rosalyn Grossman, MA; and others.

Yujing Sun, MD, PhD, is a cancer researcher working as Assistant Professor in the department of Surgery, College of Medicine, University of Vermont. Along with her cancer research experience, she is a Mindfulness-Based Stress Reduction Teacher (MBSR) and a Registered 200 Hours Yoga Teacher (RYT200). Since 2014, she has co-taught MBSR courses at the University of Vermont Medical Center and has taught various mindfulness-based workshops and sessions in the Burlington, VT, area.

Andrew Rosenfeld, MD, is an attending psychiatrist at the Vermont Center for Children, Youth and Families at the University of Vermont Medical Center. He specializes in child and adolescent psychiatry and his interests include the interface of positive psychology and medicine as well as teaching clinical interviewing skills.
David Låg Tomasi, PhD, MA, MCS, AAT, is a psychotherapist, philosopher, author, and faculty member working and teaching at the University of Vermont, UVM Medical Center, Community College of Vermont, CRAM Research Center and Sofia University.

Mary Streeter, MS, RRA, RT (R)(CT), BS, Advance Practice Provider, Department of Radiology, University of Vermont Medical Center, has more than 30 years of experience in the health care field. She has her MS in Radiologic Sciences and BS in Professional Studies with an Integrative Medicine concentration. She is the Director of Education and Research for Imaging the World, a global health organization. She has additional studies in yoga, mindful meditation, healing touch, and guided imagery as a pathway for health and healing.

Scott D. Perrapato, DO, FACOS, is Associate Professor, Division of Urology, and Robotic Surgery Division Director at The Larner College of Medicine, University of Vermont. He has been practicing medicine for more than 30 years.

Cara Feldman Hunt, MA, Administrative Director, University of Vermont (UVM) Program in Integrative Health, has worked in the field of Integrative Healthcare since 2008 and has a Masters Organizational Psychology. Ms. Hunt works with leadership from the College of Nursing and Health Sciences, Larner College of Medicine and the University of Vermont Medical Center to bring UVM Integrative Health from concept through implementation to create a sustainable program.

Rosalyn Grossman, MA, teaches mindfulness meditation through her business Mindful Stress Relief. She has offered workshops for cancer patients, caregivers, and employees at the University of Vermont Medical Cancer Center since 2010. Ms. Grossman is certified in the Mindfulness-Based Stress Reduction (MBSR) program and has a background in nursing and health education. She has had a personal meditation practice for more than 20 years.