

October 24, 2012

Online Courses Chapters Resources Contact Us

Universities and Organizations Integrate IHI Open School Courses into Curricula & Training Programs

During the last few months, the IHI Open School team has been talking to universities and organizations from all over the world that have integrated our online courses into their curricula and training. Our goal was to create a resource that would allow faculty, residents, students, and professionals to share ideas, best practices, feedback, and outcomes on integrating our courses -- and now we'd like to share this resource with you!

Clemson University, Eastern Virginia Medical School, and Reading Hospital are just a few of the more than 80 academic and professional institutions that have officially integrated IHI Open School courses into their education. View a complete list of the universities and organizations using our courses, along with program summaries and participant feedback.

Has your university or organization integrated our courses? Let us know and join our list!

WIHI: Quality Improvement and US Medical Residency

Dr. James Moses, the IHI Open School Senior Academic Advisor, joins the latest WIHI broadcast this Thursday, October 25 at 2 PM to discuss how training in quality improvement fits in today's residency programs across the United States. Topics include the Accreditation Council for Graduate Medical Education (ACGME) and building greater capacity among faculty in residency programs to teach and model improvement skills.

Dr. Donald Goldmann, Senior Vice President of IHI, and Dr. Kedar Mate, Assistant Professor in the Department of Medicine at Weill Cornell Medical College and Clinical Lead for Research and Development at IHI, will be joining Dr. Moses during this WIHI. Bring your questions, knowledge, and peers to the broadcast and register to listen in.

Community Updates

Welcome, New Chapters

United States

University of California - San Francisco, Fresno Center for Medical Education & Research, California

Kaiser Permanente, California

Reminder: Webinar on Designing Systems with Steve Spear This Thursday

This Thursday, October 25 at 12 PM EST, MIT professor Steve Spear will be joining the IHI Open School and more than 25 Chapters worldwide to discuss The Paper Airplane Factory, a system design activity connected to his course MHO 101: Achieving Breakthrough Quality, Access, and Affordability.

Has your Chapter run the activity? Just interested in learning more about system design? Join the call and connect with Professor Steve.

Canadian Patient Safety Week: October 29 - November 2

The University of Toronto Chapter of the IHI Open School is hosting a series of events to celebrate Canadian Patient Safety Week. Speaker topics include patient hand-offs and interprofessional collaboration. Learn more and register for the events via the University of Toronto.